BRAGS

I am amazed and proud to be able to report that Canny (Caprice Never Say Never) has not only achieved his Advanced Rally title, but his Novice title in CDSP, ASCA, AKC (first, second and third) and 2 Novice legs in UKC both firsts. He also has received his first Open leg in CDSP. We have been unable to work since the end of October, but hope to be ready to roll very soon. Some may remember Canny as the terrified sheltie who had to be dragged from the back of his crate to go into the ring. Canny is still and probably always will be over concerned by all things new: places, people, dogs new exercises, but he is a far happier dog today having overcome some of his phobias and for that I am truly pleased.

In 2016, after attending Thursday night drop-in classes conducted by Cheryl Hoye, and assisted by Jim Hurlbut, my Siberian Husky and I entered the AKC ring for the first time and titled in: Beginner Novice, Rally Novice (plus a bumper leg with a perfect 100), and earned our first Novice leg.

Also, after attending Rick Ritacco's CDSP class on Tuesday evenings, my Siberian Husky and I titled in: CDSP Starter Novice with scores of 196 and higher.

In the past year, we attended several run-throughs held at the club which proved to be invaluable.

In my opinion, the ODTWCW's run-throughs are head-and-shoulders above run-throughs held at some other facilities, primarily because each run-through is for a length of time rather than consisting of "once around the ring." Also, the volunteering judges provide lots of constructive feedback. These run-throughs are money well spent. Molly

ENGAGEMENT AND MOTIVATION FOR DOG SPORTS with Peg Munves

These days, dog sports training is more than behaviors. It's all about attitude and relationship and creating joyful partnerships. By utilizing classical learning, this workshop shares how to find that balance between motivation and precision while creating an engaged dog who wants to work and work.

Fun, exciting and reinforcing for both members of the team, this training is great for all teams: for those who want to boost their ring performance, to new teams developing their partnerships, to those whose dogs do a great warmup but who are lackluster in the ring. Verbal markers will also be trained, as well as building an occasion setter/warmup that gets the dog in work mode. Peg will share how to utilize these to increase the dog's drive and energy throughout the performance.
